Evanston, IL October 19th, 2005—Go2Call today announced that it ranked Number 22 on the 2005 Deloitte Technology Fast 500, a ranking of the fastest growing technology companies in North America. Rankings are based on percentage of revenue growth over five years, from 2000-2004. Within this time, Go2Call has grown an impressive 12,514%. Despite declining growth in the traditional telecom industry since 2000, the VoIP sector has been booming. Amidst this climate of rapid growth, Go2Call earned the top ranking among industry players. With a deep commitment to innovation and superior customer service, Go2Call is now empowering more than 200 service providers in nearly 100 countries and has already achieved profitability. Key customers include such market leaders as Fujitsu's Nifty, VSNL, Teleglobe and Intelsat.

Go2Call's founders, John Nix and Larry Spear, credit targeted global sales activities, excellent teamwork and unique VoIP technology for the company's superior revenue growth over this period. "By continuously adding new customers around the world while nurturing the sustained growth of our loyal customer base, Go2Call was able to achieve remarkable growth," said Spear. "It is by ensuring our customers' ongoing success that we can realize our own."

Overall, companies that ranked on the 2005 Technology Fast 500 had growth rates ranging from 240 to 73,752 percent over five years, with an average growth rate of 2,408. "It's an impressive achievement and Go2Call deserves a lot of credit for its remarkable performance and sustained revenue growth. Making the Deloitte Technology Fast 500 is commendable in today's highly competitive technology industry," states Tony Kern, deputy national managing principal of Deloitte's Technology, Media and Telecommunications industry practice.
